

Mr. Baranski,

Perhaps you could explain to me in more detail how that is a ridiculous characterization - also, how my interview request merits you reporting me to my superiors.

The boilerplate is printed on Government of Alberta letterhead, by a government body that is supposed to represent all taxpayers - not merely those who voted for the ruling party.

How is this is an appropriate or necessary addendum, to press releases about judicial appointments?
What is the addition of this boilerplate supposed to achieve?

I trust that, if my interview request is still denied, you will be able to answer these questions.
